2. FURTHER ACTION

If a demand for international preliminary examination is made, this opinion will be considered to be a written opinion of the International Preliminary Examining Authority ("IPEA") except that this does not apply where the applicant chooses an Authority other than this one to be the IPEA and the chosen IPEA has notified the International Bureau under Rule 66.1bis(b) that written opinions of this International Searching Authority will not be so considered.

If this opinion is, as provided above, considered to be a written opinion of the IPEA, the applicant is invited to submit to the IPEA a written reply together, where appropriate, with amendments, before the expiration of 3 months from the date of mailing of Form PCT/ISA/220 or before the expiration of 22 months from the priority date, whichever expires later.

For further options, see Form PCT/ISA/220.

3. For further details, see notes to Form PCT/ISA/220.

WRITTEN OPINION OF THE
INTERNATIONAL SEARCHING AUTHORITY

International application No.

PCT/US04/11372

Box No. I Basis of this opinion

1. With regard to the language, this opinion has been established on the basis of the international application in the language in which it was filed, unless otherwise indicated under this item.

☒ This opinion has been established on the basis of a translation from the original language into the following language _____, which is the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international search (under Rules 12.3 and 23.1(b)).

2. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application and necessary to the claimed invention, this opinion has been established on the basis of:

a. type of material

☐ a sequence listing

☐ table(s) related to the sequence listing

b. format of material

☐ in written format

☐ in computer readable form

c. time of filing/furnishing

☐ contained in international application as filed.

☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.

☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority for the purposes of search.

3. ☐ In addition, in the case that more than one version or copy of a sequence listing and/or table relating thereto has been filed or furnished, the required statements that the information in the subsequent or additional copies is identical to that in the application as filed or does not go beyond the application as filed, as appropriate, were furnished.

4. Additional comments:

WRITTEN OPINION OF THE
INTERNATIONAL SEARCHING AUTHORITY

International application No.

PCT/US04/11372

Box No. III Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

1. The questions whether the claimed invention appears to be novel, to involve an inventive step (to be non-obvious), or to be industrially applicable have not been examined in respect of:

☐ the entire international application

☒ claims Nos. 7

because:

☒ the description, claims or drawings (indicate particular elements below) or said claims Nos. 7 are so unclear that no meaningful opinion could be formed (specify):

It is unclear as to what exactly "with connections to plural distinct peripheral" refers to.

☐ the claims, or said claims Nos. _____ are so inadequately supported by the description that no meaningful opinion could be formed.

☐ no international search report has been established for said claims Nos. _____

☐ the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing does not comply with the standard provided for in Annex C of the Administrative Instructions in that:

the written form

☐ has not been furnished

☐ does not comply with the standard

the computer readable form

☐ has not been furnished

☐ does not comply with the standard

☐ the tables related to the nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence listing, if in computer readable form only, do not comply with the technical requirements provided for in Annex C-bis of the Administrative Instructions.

☐ See Supplemental Box for further details.

Box No. VII Certain defects in the international application

The following defects in the form or contents of the international application have been noted:

Claim17 is objected to under PCT Rule 66.2(a)(iii) as containing the following defect(s) in the form or contents thereof: "(maybe moving to dependent claim)" is meaningless and should be removed from the claim.

V. 2. Citations and Explanations:

3. Referring to claim 2, Lang teaches that the autorun software is located in the memory portion of the memory device which as explained above is part of the controller [¶ 0048]. Therefore it is interpreted that the autorun software is embedded in the controller.
4. Referring to claim 3, because the selected software comprises keys, which provide cryptographic services, it is interpreted that these would be stored in protected memory in order to keep the keys secure. In addition, the host system is "expecting" the autorun software so that the host system can be configured to access the selected software and therefore would authenticate it in order to acknowledge that the software has been accessed by the host device [¶ 0048].
5. Referring to claim 4, Lang teaches that the software provides operation of a wireless device on the host computing device [Fig. 2A, ¶ 0030 and ¶ 0048].
6. Referring to claim 8, Lang teaches that the device is connectable to a USB port [Fig. 2A and ¶ 0030].
7. Claims 5 and 6 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Yang in view of Yoshida et al [Yoshida] US Pub No 2002/0101515.
8. Referring to claims 5 and 6, the Yang system teaches a USB storage device but does not explicitly teach that the device comprises a manual switch for selecting among more than two operating states. Yoshida teaches a digital camera that can also be used as a USB storage device which comprises a switch which allows a user to select among more than two operating states [¶ 0207 and ¶ 0261]. It would have been obvious to modify the Yang system to include the teachings of Yoshida because it would make the Yang system more robust by incorporating devices which are not strictly just USB storage devices but rather those devices which could emulate a USB storage device.
9. Claims 10-13 and 16-18 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Lang in view of Laney et al [Laney] US Pat No 6366966.
10. Referring to claim 10, Lang teaches the invention substantially including:
 - a. loading and running the autorun software on the host computer [¶ 0048].Lang does explicitly teach:
 - b. determining whether autorun software on an integrated circuit memory device is enabled upon activation of the integrated circuit memory device with a host computer
 - c. identifying enabled autorun software to the host computer with a device interface descriptionIn summary, Lang not specifically teach the host device identifying executable autorun software on a memory device using a device interface description. Laney teaches identifying executable autorun software on a memory device using a device interface description [col. 1 lines 57-60 and col. 2 lines 11-36]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to include the identifying means taught in Laney into the Lang system because Lang does not specifically detail how to identify the autorun software so that it can be executed and Laney teaches a means for identifying autorun software.
11. Referring to claim 11, Lang teaches that the device will initially appear to the host system as a first device then identified as a second device after executing the autorun software [abstract and ¶ 0048].
12. Referring to claim 12, Lang teaches that the device can be a wireless device [Fig. 2A, ¶ 0030 and ¶ 0048].
13. Referring to claim 13, Laney teaches that the identifying means is analogous to that of a CD-ROM drive.

14. Referring to claims 16-18, these are rejected on the same basis as set forth hereinabove. Lang and Laney teach the method and therefore teach the software performing the method.
